Extraordinary leadership through Learning

Introduction

Droste is known for our highly facilitative approach to both classroom and virtual training. We leverage learning moments to maximize a learner's experience by using a coaching approach to learning. Based on our vast experience working with leaders globally and at all levels, our workshops focus on areas that create the largest possible impact on business success.

We also created a model identifying six key competencies that make leaders effective in their roles. You'll notice that we identify which of the six competencies each course addresses on the pages that follow.

You'll also find a few tools to help you determine the needs of your learner group. We included a Competency Diagnostic Tool, which asks questions to help you identify specific competencies. You'll also find a sample course curriculum based on role and a chart showing competency areas by course.

The catalog is organized by course information, course summaries, and course descriptions. The full course descriptions will give you a solid understanding of course objectives, benefits, and durations.

Course Summaries

Accountability at Work

On one side you have identifying what is most important and going after it with laser like focus. On the other side you have encouraging others and motivating them to achieve goals. Can you drive for organizational results and increase employee engagement? The answer is yes. This course will guide you in identifying day-to-day actions and achievements of long-term goals, examine your current attitude and approaches to accountability, and set a foundation for a culture of accountability and drive for results in your organization.

Building Effective Relationships with Emotional Intelligence

The quality of a leader's relationships with direct reports, colleagues, and customers is directly tied to success. This course explores how understanding emotional intelligence can help build professional relationships that are positive, productive, and effective. Emotional intelligence is made up of two main skills: personal competence, which is the ability to recognize and manage your own feelings; and social competence, which is the ability to manage your interactions by recognizing and responding to others' feelings and behavior. Mastering both competencies is key to building effective relationships overall and underpins other leadership skills. This course also explores two of those skills—exercising influence and managing conflict—in the context of emotional intelligence.

Change Management

The ability to change is key to survival. Change is in every new project, every new customer, and every improvement in products or services. This course teaches the skills that individuals need to navigate and lead others through times of change. Learners will take the Change Style Indicator assessment to learn their personal change readiness style. They will also learn reasons people resist change and explore the stages people go through when moving through change. Finally, learners will learn techniques to secure commitment for change when leading a project or a team. The full-day version of this course includes a business simulation that provides an opportunity to apply change management skills.

Coaching Skills for Leaders

A key responsibility of an experienced leader is to contribute to the professional growth of others. Droste's Coaching Skills for Leaders Program readies leaders to demonstrate the skills, ideals, and best practices needed to serve their colleagues in a coaching role. The concepts of mindset, trust, and presence are examined in the context of the Droste Coaching Process, as learners have the opportunity to practice key communication techniques and engage in self-reflection. Proven techniques for coaching challenging people are also discussed.

Coaching Skills for Coaches

Droste's Coaching Skills for Coaches presents a comprehensive, integrated approach to preparing leaders for success as internal coaches in their organizations. By combining a six-part workshop series with self-assessments, individual coaching sessions, self-study and reflection, and coaching practice, this program provides critical knowledge, insights, and skills that align with the competencies set forth by the International Coach Federation (ICF). Learning topics in this six to twelve-month program include the Droste Coaching Model, mindset, presence, powerful questioning, mindfulness, personal style, emotional intelligence, ethics, trust, communication, conflict management, change management, goal setting, accountability, and commitment in the context of the coaching relationship.

Collaborating for Organizational Impact

An increasingly complex and global workplace demands a more sophisticated approach to collaboration in order to achieve success. As organizations look to move from traditional structures to new delivery models, from fixed mindsets to a focus on growth and possibility, and from variability to consistency, the ability to collaborate between individuals, teams, and functions is critical. This program explores collaboration in an environment where goals, resources, and responsibilities may align or compete. Our proprietary model presents collaboration as a process, noting how it differs from cooperation and consensus and emphasizing the necessary skills. Learners will have an opportunity to practice new skills using business scenarios and plan for application when they return to the workplace.

Communicating with Impact

As George Bernard Shaw famously said, "The single biggest problem in communication is the illusion that it has taken place." We spend our workday exchanging messages with our colleagues and customers through words that are spoken and written as well as through our behaviors, often without giving these a second thought. However, communication is a complex process that is essential to the success of individuals, teams, and organizations. The ability to communicate in a way that is effective, concise, and appropriate is crucial at all levels of an organization, and thus it is a critical skill to examine and develop. Communicating with Impact combines the theoretical with the practical to present communication as an essential business tool that builds relationships, increases productivity, and underpins results when done effectively.

Conflict Management

Every person faces conflict at work. When left unmanaged, conflict creates undue stress on the individual and a loss of productivity in the organization. What makes conflict negative or positive is the way in which it is handled. This course describes five styles of conflict and how to best use each mode based on the situation, and it informs participants of their own natural conflict mode. Participants will also apply Droste's Healthy Conflict Model and learn practical tools to help them manage conflict in their own lives.

Courageous Leadership

Today's complex business challenges frequently require leaders to act with courage. This program helps learners define and understand the importance of courage in a leadership context. Learners will explore the factors that enable or limit a leader's ability to demonstrate courage in general and in the culture of their organization. They will reflect on their own mindset and behaviors and identify opportunities to break out of their "comfort zone" and act with greater courage in the workplace. The learning experience includes an opportunity for practice and concludes with action planning and personal commitment.

Critical Thinking

Leadership surveys across a range of industries and disciplines consistently identify the ability to think critically as essential to success. Critical thinking underpins a range of responsibilities and actions that leaders take on every day, such as decision making, problem solving, strategic planning, innovating, and managing risk. As jobs and professional relationships are increasingly complex, and interconnectivity among departments means that even small decisions can have big impact, critical thinking skills are a key to both individual and organizational effectiveness.

Customer Focus: Dazzle ALL Your Customers

Customer focus is a part of all our roles. To be customer focused is to be dedicated to exceeding customer expectations for both your external and your internal customers. Through this course you will seek to identify who your customers are and the opportunities to improve their customer experience. You will explore systems to identify improvements in products, services, and/or procedures. Through the Everything DiSC® assessment you will discover the most impactful way of communicating to meet the needs of your different customers. This highly regarded tool will help build relationships based on trust and respect.

Delegating for Success

Every leader faces the challenge of achieving results through others. The ability to effectively delegate tasks and responsibilities is a key part of meeting that challenge. In this course, learners will examine their current attitudes toward and approaches to delegation. They will learn a process for delegating tasks and responsibilities that positions employees for success, and they will practice utilizing that process in a real-work situation. They will also explore the dynamics of accountability and learn the behaviors and practices that set the foundation for a culture of accountability on a team or in an organization.

Delegation and Accountability

The ability to delegate tasks and responsibilities to employees and hold them accountable for results is central to any leadership role. In both the in-person and virtual versions of this program, learners will examine practical, thoughtful approaches that promote effectiveness in both of these elements of managing performance. Self-assessments, individual reflection, group discussion, and scenario work are used to engage learners and build skills.

Drive for Results

On one side you have identifying what is most important and going after it with laser like focus. On the other side you have encouraging others and motivating them to achieve goals. Can you drive for organizational results and increase employee engagement? The answer is yes. This course will guide you identifying day to day actions and achievements of long-term goals, examine your current attitude and approaches to accountability, and set a foundation for a culture of accountability and drive for results in your organization.

Effective Feedback

The practice of giving and receiving feedback often and well is of considerable benefit to both the individual and the organization. Despite its importance, the feedback process is often seen as daunting and potentially uncomfortable. This course addresses the apprehensions and motivations associated with feedback and presents the feedback process as invaluable, rewarding, and critical to cultivating a healthy workplace culture. It emphasizes the skills and best practices that promote a productive feedback experience, and it uses communication models and techniques that learners can use to plan and engage in their own feedback conversations.

Emotional Intelligence

Although the range of competencies that define an effective leader is broad and varied, at the core is emotional intelligence. Emotional intelligence is the ability to recognize and manage your feelings and respond to the feelings and behaviors of others. This course explores how the elements of emotional intelligence—self-awareness, self-management, social awareness, and relationship management—are demonstrated in the workplace and how those competencies can be practiced and developed to increase a leader's effectiveness.

Everything DiSC® Agile EQ

Everything DiSC Agile EQ helps learners explore the concept of emotional intelligence and introduces the idea of Agile EQ—the ability to stretch beyond one's comfort zone and adopt the optimal response in a given situation. It helps participants understand the need for and value of a variety of responses and provides tips and guidance for learning to stretch to those responses that might initially feel uncomfortable. This will help learners become better at navigating different workplace challenges and interactions.

Everything DiSC® Management

Everything DiSC® Management teaches learners to learn how to read the styles of the people they manage. The result is managers who adapt their styles to manage more effectively. This course focuses on your DiSC Management Style, directing and delegating, motivation, developing others, and working with your manager.

Everything DiSC® Productive Conflict

Everything DiSC® Productive Conflict teaches learners about their personal conflict management styles so that they can approach conflict situations in a productive way. Learners increase their self-awareness regarding productive and destructive conflict behaviors and learn how to effectively respond to conflict in the workplace. Droste's full-day Productive Conflict course combines the DiSC content with a conflict model that breaks down a healthy conflict conversation and allows for planning, practice, and feedback.

Everything DiSC® Sales

Everything DiSC® Sales teaches learners to learn how to read the styles of their customers. The result is salespeople who adapt their styles to connect better—and close more sales. This course focuses on three vital areas: Understanding your DiSC Sales Style, recognizing and understanding customer buying styles, and adapting your sales style to your customer's buying style.

Everything DiSC® Work of Leaders

Everything DiSC Work of Leaders is an integrated leadership program that focuses on building understanding, self-awareness, and skills to assist leaders in effectively leading a group or organization to achieve business outcomes. Based on the book The Work of Leaders by Julie Straw, Mark Scullard, Barry Davis, and Susie Kukkonen, this program uses best-practice research to teach the process most effective leaders follow. The program gives learners a fundamental language and clear framework for leading and supports behavioral change through teaching the skill sets required to increase business performance. This program focuses on the fundamental work of leaders: the process of creating a Vision, building Alignment around that vision, and championing Execution of the vision.

Everything DiSC® Workplace

Everything DiSC Workplace® can be used with everyone in an organization, regardless of title or role, to improve the quality of the workplace. Using online pre-work, engaging facilitation with contemporary video, and online follow-up, the result is a personalized learning experience. Learners understand and appreciate the styles of the people they work with. The result is more effective and productive working relationships.

Everything DiSC® Workplace Certification

This program provides facilitators and coaches with the skills they need to competently and confidently deliver the Everything DiSC Workplace program. Whether they utilize Everything DiSC Workplace in the classroom or as part of a one on-one coaching session, facilitators at all levels have much to gain from becoming certified in the program. The certification workshop combines online prework with classroom learning to prepare learners to administer and discuss DiSC results with individuals and teams.

Exercising Influence

The ability to influence is part skill, part art, and wholly critical to success in the workplace. This course will help you build your ability to exercise influence by recognizing and exploring your own preferred influence style and understanding how to call upon other influence styles when the situation calls for it. By recognizing and utilizing different styles you will be a positive force when pursuing results and will be able to use your influence to achieve win-win outcomes.

The Five Behaviors of a Cohesive Team™

Through the use of activity, video review, and discussion, an intact team is led through the powerful Five Behaviors of a Cohesive Team™ model, learning and practicing the behaviors that will make the team more cohesive and improve its performance. This workshop improves learners' abilities to apply The Five Fundamentals, which build on one another to create a strong team: building trust, mastering conflict, achieving commitment, embracing accountability, and focusing on results.

The Five Behaviors—Personal Development

This program focuses on making individuals better teammates using the team-development process described in Patrick Lencioni's best-selling book The Dysfunctions of a Team. Anchored in individual assessments based on the Everything DiSC model, The Five Behaviors—Personal Development helps individuals better understand and internalize the principles of The Five Behaviors of a Cohesive Team and provides a common language that can be used in organizations. Through individual work, video review, and group discussion, learners build a level of self-awareness and skill that will enhance their personal effectiveness as team members.

The Great Workplace

Based on many years of research and training conducted at the Great Place to Work® Institute—producers of the FORTUNE 100 Best Companies to Work For® Annual List—The Great Workplace: Building Trust and Inspiring Performance Workshop provides managers with a set of powerful, effective exercises that will help them understand the conceptual and practical considerations of creating a high-trust work environment.

Impactful Presentations

Whether giving a presentation is an occasional task or a routine responsibility, leaders are expected to shine while informing, educating, or making a case in front of an audience. Presentation skills increase a leader's influence. This course teaches learners how to develop and deliver a presentation that is impactful and compelling, no matter its purpose. Learners will learn how to plan and organize a presentation and apply best practices for engaging an audience, utilizing visuals, maintaining an appropriate energy level, and making a call to action.

Inclusion in the Workplace

Inclusion has become a priority for many organizations, for good reason: companies that adopt inclusive practices outperform those who do not. Inclusion means actively involving every employee's ideas, knowledge, perspectives, approaches, and styles to maximize individual and business success. Droste's Inclusion in the Workplace program allows learners to explore inclusion as an important element of organizational success, and to review the characteristics and best practices of inclusive leaders and organizations. Learners discuss the nature and impact of unconscious bias on behavior and learn ways to mitigate its effects. Finally, learners leave with an action plan for increasing their own effectiveness as inclusive leaders.

Interviewing with Confidence

In any organization, selecting the right person for the right job is a challenge. Successfully meeting that challenge helps your organization keep turnover low, keep morale high, and achieve results. Leaders can take the first step in that direction by conducting candidate interviews effectively and with confidence. This class teaches learners how to assess the competencies necessary to be successful in a job and how to ask appropriate, targeted interview questions that elicit meaningful responses.

The Leadership Challenge

Based on the bestselling and award-winning book The Leadership Challenge by James M. Kouzes and Barry Z. Posner, this workshop demystifies leadership development and approaches it as a measurable, learnable, and teachable set of behaviors. It establishes a unique underlying philosophy that leadership is everyone's business.

Leading Across Generations

In today's workplace, it is common to find four generations represented in the employee population. This multigenerational environment presents both challenges and opportunities for managers as they work to keep all employees engaged, motivated, and performing at a high level. Managing Across Generations explores the typical behaviors, work habits, values, cultural expectations, and other preferences employees of all ages bring to their professions. This affects how they communicate, interact, and learn both as individuals and in teams. This program shows managers how to move beyond stereotypes and labels to cultivate a dynamic of inclusiveness and respect for the strengths that workers from all generations bring to the organization.

Leading in a Matrix

Leading in a matrix organization presents unique demands and challenges. Without effective leadership in this highly complex environment, the competition for resources and a lack of role clarity can jeopardize accountability and trust. Success in a matrix requires particular attention to certain key skills, including collaboration, decision making, conflict resolution, communication, influence, and performance management, often applied in new ways. In this program, learners will explore the matrix structure, its function and importance, and its impact on how individuals work and how leaders get results.

Leading Teams

Droste's Leading Teams program presents a foundation for success upon which a leader can develop a personal leadership style. Based on the powerful Five Behaviors of a Cohesive Team™ model, this course will position leaders to focus on and foster the behaviors that will make the team more cohesive and improve its performance. Learners will learn the role of a team leader in enabling their team to build trust, master conflict, achieve commitment, embrace accountability, and focus on results. This unique take on the Five Behaviors model presents strategies and practices that support a leader's efforts to build these behaviors and allows for reflection and planning according to each participant's needs.

Leading Virtual Teams

Being a leader of a virtual team requires the same skills of any leadership role. Having to use technology to build relationships and accomplish the goals of leadership is the main difference. This, of course, can have huge impact on how, or even if, basic leadership functions are carried out. This course provides tools and techniques specific to leading virtual teams including communication, running meetings, and leading your team to exceeding expectations.

Listening: The Power of Not Speaking

Listening is not about simply being quiet; listening is a critical skill. Active listening helps make connections between ideas and information. It can help us change our perspective and challenge assumptions. Listening shows appreciation which can enhance our work relationships. Conversely, poor listening negatively impacts productivity and working relationships. This course will guide you through developing an understanding of the importance of listening, explore listening and communication models, and recognize listening as a conflict improvement strategy.

Mindset for Leaders

Mindset is a critical element of a leader's success. Skill building only translates to behavior change when filtered through a healthy mindset. It determines the way we think about, approach, and interpret situations in the workplace and directly influences the quality of our actions, decisions, and relationships. Cultivating a mindset that enhances effectiveness and enables success must be a priority for any genuine leader. This course enables learners to examine the leadership mindset as a concept (e.g., fixed vs. growth), as a manifestation of their personal values and experiences, and as the product of organizational culture. Learners also consider the impact of their mindset as a leader on individuals and the organization, and they conclude by crafting a galvanizing, powerful, and personal mindset statement.

Myers-Briggs Type Indicator® and Team Building

The Myers-Briggs Type Indicator® (MBTI) is a nonjudgmental instrument that helps individuals and teams to understand themselves and others in a way that is value-oriented versus evaluative. MBTI provides an indication of preferences. The preferences refer to gathering energy or processing thoughts, being detail-oriented versus big-picture-focused in gathering information, being objective or subjective in decision making, and being structured or go-with-the-flow in orienting one's lifestyle. In this course, learners will complete a 95-question instrument and identify a four-letter MBTI type. Learners will increase their awareness of how their preferences and others' preferences influence their daily behaviors

Motivating Other: Coaching to Action

Motivation represents a crucial challenge for many organizations. Well over half of employees are not engaged (Gallup 2014, 2018). Motivation issues are not because of an uninspired team member, rather motivation is driven by the environment created for the team. This course will guide you through identifying motivational issues so you can create a climate where people want to do their best. Through your coaching, those around you will feel empowered, share ownership, and feel like their work is important, regardless of whether they are your peers or your direct reports.

Performance Management

In this full-day course, learners will learn what effective performance management looks like in the modern workplace and why it's necessary for setting their employees up for success. Using Droste's SOAP model, learners will take a deep dive into the four steps in executing an impactful performance-management process. Learners will learn how to set and align goals, observe behavior to get results, assess and evaluate performance, and provide feedback and establish next steps. This course also emphasizes the skills and best practices that promote a productive feedback experience and uses a simple model and actionable techniques that learners can use to plan and engage in successful feedback conversations as part of their performance-management process.

Priority Setting: Getting Stuff Done

"I have a million things to do." You probably don't have a million things, but does it feel that way sometimes? In this course discover how to approach your to-do list of things that will make the biggest impact. Are there some things on your list that don't belong, and should either be on someone else's list or be removed entirely? This course will guide you through identifying those things that do belong on your list and determining what comes first. We will explore decision-making models and the situations that they are most appropriate. We will look at the importance of protecting your time and saying no.

Teams and Trust

Droste's Teams and Trust course combines the framework of Peter Lencioni's Five Behaviors of a Cohesive Team™ model with the teachings of Charlie Green, the author of three best-selling books about trust. Lencioni emphasizes trust as the first and foundational of the Five Behaviors. Green's research, as outlined in Trust-Based Selling and The Trusted Advisor, examines trust as a fundamental element of the manager/employee relationship. The course includes a detailed self-assessment used as a diagnostic tool for leaders to understand their natural styles and how they align with the critical behaviors that build trust. It also prepares leaders to build upon trust to facilitate other key team behaviors.

Time Mastery

This workshop teaches skills and strategies for efficiently managing time and organizing work. Strategies include planning, note-taking, prioritizing, scheduling, responding when the day doesn't go as planned, organizing the desk, and handling paper documents and e-mail messages. The Time Mastery Profile® completed during the workshop will assess time mastery in twelve dimensions. Improving time-management capabilities often requires a change in habits. Learners will identify the habits that need changing and develop an action plan based on the lessons learned in the session.

Trust-Based Leadership

Trust-Based Leadership is a comprehensive, one-day workshop designed for frontline and middle managers in leadership positions. This program was created by one of the most influential writers and researchers on trust, Charlie Green. Charlie has written three best-selling books about trust, including Trust-Based Selling and The Trusted Advisor. His latest research applies trust to the manager/employee relationship. The course includes a detailed self-assessment used as a diagnostic tool for leaders to understand their natural styles and how they align with the key behaviors that build trust.

Understanding Cultures for Effective Communication

As the world flattens and our multicultural workplaces expand, cultural competence is one of the most valuable business skills we can acquire. Culture underpins how individuals present themselves in the workplace, and knowledge of culture is critical to improving communication and relationships among our colleagues and customers. This program provides a basic understanding of culture and the specific behaviors that culture affects, particularly in a business setting. Learners will be introduced to the characteristics, values, and behaviors of high-context vs. low-context cultures and have the opportunity to practice navigating communication situations with each of these groups. Learners will also learn and apply best practices for effective cross-cultural communication, identify barriers to cross-cultural communication, and reflect on their personal cultural characteristics as well as those of their organization

Course Descriptions

The remainder of this catalog presents a one-page course description for each course. These descriptions contain course overviews and objectives, outline the benefits to taking the course, identify assessments taken (if applicable), provide video information, and indicate course length.

Each course supports one or more of our six leadership competencies:

- Self-Awareness
- Relating
- Thinking
- Working
- Leading
- Teaming

Included in our course descriptions are tables indicating which competencies are supported. You'll find this information helpful in determining which courses to select once you've completed our Competency Diagnostic tool.

Accountability at Work

On one side you have identifying what is most important and going after it with laser like focus. On the other side you have encouraging others and motivating them to achieve goals. Can you drive for organizational results and increase employee engagement? The answer is yes. This course will guide you in identifying day-to-day actions and achievements of long-term goals, examine your current attitude and approaches to accountability, and set a foundation for a culture of accountability and drive for results in your organization.

Objectives

- Explore what it means to Drive Results and the impact it can have for your team
- Discover the five success factors of obtaining consistent and sustainable results
- Create an action plan achieving the next result you want to achieve for you or your team
- Discover that results may be a product or output, but it is done through people

Benefits

- Results is the end game; it is people that achieve consistent and sustainable results. Create a custom formula for your team by exploring the five success factors of obtaining results
- Driving for results is done at all levels, regardless of title. In this course, explore the impact of peers holding one another accountable and providing feedback

Building Effective Relationships with Emotional Intelligence

The quality of a leader’s relationships with direct reports, colleagues, and customers is directly tied to success. This course explores how understanding emotional intelligence can help build professional relationships that are positive, productive, and effective. Emotional intelligence is made up of two main skills: personal competence, which is the ability to recognize and manage your own feelings; and social competence, which is the ability to manage your interactions by recognizing and responding to others’ feelings and behavior. Mastering both competencies is key to building effective relationships overall and underpins other leadership skills. This course also explores two of those skills—exercising influence and managing conflict—in the context of emotional intelligence.

Objectives

- Understand the role of emotional intelligence in the workplace
- Understand how to manage your emotions and those of others
- Explore elements of exercising influence
- Discuss different styles of managing conflict
- Explore and apply an approach to address conflict

Benefits

- Techniques and strategies provide a range of ways to understand individual feelings and increase perception of the feelings of others
- Focus on influence and conflict management allow an exploration of EQ in practical application

Change Management

The ability to change is key to survival. Change is in every new project, every new customer, and every improvement in products or services. This course teaches the skills that individuals need to navigate and lead others through times of change. Learners will take the Change Style Indicator assessment to learn their personal change readiness style. They will also learn reasons people resist change and explore the stages people go through when moving through change. Finally, learners will learn techniques to secure commitment for change when leading a project or a team. The full-day version of this course includes a business simulation that provides an opportunity to apply change management skills.

Objectives

- Understand why people resist change
- Explore the stages people typically go through to truly adopt a change
- Gain insight into your own change style
- Explore change style perceptions
- Learn techniques to gain commitment for change when leading a project
- Discuss tools useful in managing the people side of change

Benefits

- Approach explores self-awareness regarding change readiness
- Techniques address ways to handle resistance to change
- Tools enable the successful management of the people side of change

Collaborating for Organizational Impact

An increasingly complex and global workplace demands a more sophisticated approach to collaboration in order to achieve success. As organizations look to move from traditional structures to new delivery models, from fixed mindsets to a focus on growth and possibility, and from variability to consistency, the ability to collaborate between individuals, teams, and functions is critical. This program explores collaboration in an environment where goals, resources, and responsibilities may align or compete. Our proprietary model presents collaboration as a process, noting how it differs from cooperation and consensus and emphasizing the necessary skills. Learners will have an opportunity to practice new skills using business scenarios and plan for application when they return to the workplace.

Objectives

- Explore the requirements for collaboration and partnership in the modern workplace
- Identify and avoid the common barriers to effective collaboration
- Determine when and how to collaborate for impact
- Discuss and apply the DRIVE™ model of collaborating for impact
- Practice and apply effective collaboration skills and approach to real business scenarios

Communicating with Impact

As George Bernard Shaw famously said, “The single biggest problem in communication is the illusion that it has taken place.” We spend our workday exchanging messages with our colleagues and customers through words that are spoken and written as well as through our behaviors, often without giving these a second thought. However, communication is a complex process that is essential to the success of individuals, teams, and organizations. The ability to communicate in a way that is effective, concise, and appropriate is crucial at all levels of an organization, and thus it is a critical skill to examine and develop. Communicating with Impact combines the theoretical with the practical to present communication as an essential business tool that builds relationships, increases productivity, and underpins results when done effectively.

Objectives

- Explore communication as a process
- Practice the Three Vs of communication and assertive communication skills
- Explore and practice communication techniques, including active listening, questioning, and demonstrating empathy
- Identify barriers to effective communication
- Explore best practices for effective e-mail communication
- Develop team guidelines for use of various communication channels

Benefits

- Frequency and effectiveness of communication across the organization improves
- Skills for communicating clearly and effectively improve
- Rapport and trust grows between individuals and across teams as communication is enhanced
- Practical, impactful tools for improving communication are immediately applicable

Conflict Management

Every person faces conflict at work. When left unmanaged, conflict creates undue stress on the individual and a loss of productivity in the organization. What makes conflict negative or positive is the way in which it is handled. This course describes five styles of conflict and how to best use each mode based on the situation, and it informs participants of their own natural conflict mode. Participants will also apply Droste’s Healthy Conflict Model and learn practical tools to help them manage conflict in their own lives.

Objectives

- Define conflict
- Explain how conflict is healthy and necessary
- Describe the five styles of conflict
- Explain how your natural conflict style affects your approach to conflict
- Recognize the potential advantages and disadvantages of using different conflict modes in a given situation
- Apply Droste’s Healthy Conflict Model skills and behaviors

Benefits

- Understand your natural conflict style and how to best use it
- Have more productive conversations
- Solve problems more efficiently
- Build stronger relationships

Courageous Leadership

Today’s complex business challenges frequently require leaders to act with courage. This program helps learners define and understand the importance of courage in a leadership context. Learners will explore the factors that enable or limit a leader’s ability to demonstrate courage in general and in the culture of their organization. They will reflect on their own mindset and behaviors and identify opportunities to break out of their “comfort zone” and act with greater courage in the workplace. The learning experience includes an opportunity for practice and concludes with action planning and personal commitment.

Objectives

- Define courageous leadership
- Explore factors that enable and limit your ability to act with courage
- Explore individual courageous leadership “zones”
- Identify opportunities to build courage capacity in yourself and others
- Apply courageous leadership practices
- Create a courage action plan

Benefits

- Leaders develop confidence to take risks, make decisions, and advocate for new ideas and innovation
- Opportunities for self-reflection and planning enable immediate application and impact
- Organizational culture shifts to accommodate a common understanding of courage in the workplace

Critical Thinking

Leadership surveys across a range of industries and disciplines consistently identify the ability to think critically as essential to success. Critical thinking underpins a range of responsibilities and actions that leaders take on every day, such as decision making, problem solving, strategic planning, innovating, and managing risk. As jobs and professional relationships are increasingly complex, and interconnectivity among departments means that even small decisions can have big impact, critical thinking skills are a key to both individual and organizational effectiveness.

Objectives

- Explore a critical-thinking framework for making decisions and solving problems
- Understand the hidden influences that affect thinking and decision quality
- Apply criteria to discern when a critical-thinking approach is required
- Explore the five decision styles and when to use them
- Review practical tools to apply to day-to-day business decisions and problems

Benefits

- Increased ability to identify and address the core issues that drive problems and decisions
- Increased effectiveness and confidence in approach and execution of decisions
- Increased awareness of personal tendencies and styles in situations that require critical thinking

Delegating for Success

Every leader faces the challenge of achieving results through others. The ability to effectively delegate tasks and responsibilities is a key part of meeting that challenge. In this course, learners will examine their current attitudes toward and approaches to delegation. They will learn a process for delegating tasks and responsibilities that positions employees for success and will practice utilizing that process in a real-work situation. They will also explore the dynamics of accountability and learn the behaviors and practices that set the foundation for a culture of accountability on a team or in an organization.

Objectives

- Discuss the importance of delegation to the success of individuals, leaders, and teams
- Explore five stages of delegation and the steps that support successful delegation
- Review best practices that support success in delegation
- Create action plans to improve delegation-related skills and practices

Benefits

- Breaks down the delegation process into five distinct steps to follow in order to support success
- Emphasizes the benefits of effective delegation for both individuals and the organization

Effective Feedback

The practice of giving and receiving feedback often and well is of considerable benefit to both the individual and the organization. Despite its importance, the feedback process is often seen as daunting and potentially uncomfortable. This course addresses the apprehensions and motivations associated with feedback and presents the feedback process as invaluable, rewarding, and critical to cultivating a healthy workplace culture. It emphasizes the skills and best practices that promote a productive feedback experience, and it uses communication models and techniques that learners can use to plan and engage in their own feedback conversations.

Objectives

- Understand the reasons people avoid feedback situations
- Increase awareness of the importance of giving and receiving feedback often and well
- Learn skills to improve the ability to give and receive feedback at all levels of an organization
- Practice giving feedback using simple but effective models and techniques
- Create a plan to solicit feedback

Benefits

- Increased dialog across the organization, leading to surfacing and resolving problems
- Improved skills and tools that support the creation of a feedback culture at any organization
- Barriers to exchanging honest, clear, specific, actionable feedback are addressed and removed
- Feedback becomes a key to individual development and continuous improvement at all levels of the organization

Emotional Intelligence

Although the range of competencies that define an effective leader is broad and varied, at the core is emotional intelligence. Emotional intelligence is the ability to recognize and manage your feelings and respond to the feelings and behaviors of others. This course explores how the elements of emotional intelligence—self-awareness, self-management, social awareness, and relationship management—are demonstrated in the workplace and how those competencies can be practiced and developed to increase a leader’s effectiveness.

Objectives

- Explore the behavior of effective and ineffective managers and leaders
- Understand the role of emotional intelligence in effective leadership
- Explore strategies for managing your emotions and those of others
- Practice and plan for improving your emotional intelligence

Benefits

- Presents emotional intelligence as a fundamental element of demonstrating the traits of an admired leader

Everything DiSC® Workplace Certification

This program provides facilitators and coaches with the skills they need to competently and confidently deliver the Everything DiSC® Workplace program. Whether they utilize Everything DiSC® Workplace in the classroom or as part of a one on-one coaching session, facilitators at all levels have much to gain from becoming certified in the program. The certification workshop combines online prework with classroom learning to prepare learners to administer and discuss DiSC results with individuals and teams.

Objectives

- Gain expertise in the Everything DiSC® model and the supporting research
- Develop the ability to use (e.g., facilitate, debrief, coach) the Everything DiSC® Workplace reports
- Learn to customize the program to meet the needs of an individual, team, or organization

Benefits

- Supports a detailed understanding of how the assessment is built and what it does—and does not—measure
- Enables the program to be customized according to individual or organizational goals
- Allows opportunities for facilitation practice and feedback to improve effectiveness

The Five Behaviors—Personal Development

This program focuses on making individuals better teammates using the team-development process described in Patrick Lencioni’s best-selling book The Dysfunctions of a Team. Anchored in individual assessments based on the Everything DiSC model, The Five Behaviors—Personal Development helps individuals better understand and internalize the principles of The Five Behaviors of a Cohesive Team and provides a common language that can be used in organizations. Through individual work, video review, and group discussion, learners build a level of self-awareness and skill that will enhance personal effectiveness as team members.

Objectives

- Learn about The Five Behaviors of a Cohesive Team® model and why it matters
- Learn about individual tendencies for each of the five behaviors
- Take steps to start becoming a better teammate

Benefits

- Obtain practical advice for improving the ability to work in a team setting
- Learn how to support the behaviors that lead to team cohesiveness
- Because the program is designed specifically for individuals, learners do not need to be part of the same team

Impactful Presentations

Whether giving a presentation is an occasional task or a routine responsibility, leaders are expected to shine while informing, educating, or making a case in front of an audience. Presentation skills increase a leader’s influence. This course teaches learners how to develop and deliver a presentation that is impactful and compelling, no matter its purpose. Learners will learn how to plan and organize a presentation and apply best practices for engaging an audience, utilizing visuals, maintaining an appropriate energy level, and making a call to action.

Objectives

- Understand the benefits of making presentations effective and engaging
- Apply a four-step process for creating a presentation
- Explore approaches for effectively preparing and structuring your presentation
- Practice techniques for delivering clear, confident presentations
- Learn strategies for engaging an audience and managing challenging situations
- Create an action plan for applying techniques, practices, and insights

Benefits

- Imparts an understanding of how to create variety, interest, and emphasis in presentations
- Presents a structured approach to developing a powerful presentation
- Addresses techniques for handling tough questions and troublemakers

Inclusion in the Workplace

Inclusion has become a priority for many organizations, for good reason: companies that adopt inclusive practices outperform those who do not. Inclusion means actively involving every employee’s ideas, knowledge, perspectives, approaches, and styles to maximize individual and business success. Droste’s Inclusion in the Workplace program allows learners to explore inclusion as an important element of organizational success, and to review the characteristics and best practices of inclusive leaders and organizations. Learners discuss the nature and impact of unconscious bias on behavior and learn ways to mitigate its effects. Finally, learners leave with an action plan for increasing their own effectiveness as inclusive leaders.

Objectives

- Define the concept of inclusion in the workplace
- Discuss the workforce trends and realities that make inclusion an important element of organizational success
- Explore the nature and impact of unconscious bias on behavior
- Review the characteristics and best practices of inclusive leaders and organizations
- Create action plans for increasing effectiveness as inclusive leaders

Benefits

- Increased awareness of the role and impact of inclusion on individuals, teams, and the organization
- Increased self-awareness of personal biases and tendencies and how they affect workplace behavior, so that these can be monitored and addressed
- Practices for improving inclusivity are immediately applicable and impactful

Interviewing with Confidence

In any organization, selecting the right person for the right job is a challenge. Successfully meeting that challenge helps your organization keep turnover low, keep morale high, and achieve results. Leaders can take the first step in that direction by conducting candidate interviews effectively and with confidence. This class teaches learners how to assess the competencies necessary to be successful in a job and how to ask appropriate, targeted interview questions that elicit meaningful responses.

Objectives

- Discuss the interview process
- Explore the importance of clarifying needs and competencies
- Explain various questioning techniques using the STAR technique
- Explore legal issues, topics to avoid, interviewing pitfalls, and documenting best practices
- Practice and get feedback on interview techniques

Benefits

- A targeted approach to determining competencies and fit

The Leadership Challenge

Based on the bestselling and award-winning book The Leadership Challenge by James M. Kouzes and Barry Z. Posner, this workshop demystifies leadership development and approaches it as a measurable, learnable, and teachable set of behaviors. It establishes a unique underlying philosophy that leadership is everyone's business.

Objectives

- Establish principles concerning the way people (constituents, peers, colleagues, and customers alike) should be treated
- Create a vision that inspires others
- Learn to search for opportunities by seizing the initiative and looking outward for innovative ways to improve
- Discover ways to collaborate by building trust and facilitating relationships
- Recognize contributions by showing appreciation for individual excellence

Benefits

- Proven methods that lead to effective leadership behaviors
- An inspired vision to be shared with colleagues
- Best practices for collaboration and recognition

Leading Across Generations

In today’s workplace, it is common to find four generations represented in the employee population. This multigenerational environment presents both challenges and opportunities for managers as they work to keep all employees engaged, motivated, and performing at a high level. Leading Across Generations explores the behaviors, work habits, values, cultural expectations and other styles and preferences employees of all ages bring to their professions, affecting how they communicate, interact, and learn both as individuals and in teams. This program also shows managers how to move beyond stereotypes and labels to cultivate a dynamic of inclusiveness and respect for the strengths that workers from all generations bring to the organization.

Objectives

- Explain the various generations found in the modern workplace
- Discuss the historical and cultural touchstones that have shaped each generation and how those experiences shape workplace behavior
- Understand the dangers of generalizations, assumptions, and stereotypes
- Discuss changes in priorities and sources of motivation throughout an individual’s career arc
- Examine ways to leverage individual strengths and values as opportunities for the organization

Benefits

- Improved engagement of workers of all ages
- Increased awareness and sensitivity to generational differences in the workforce
- Enhanced innovation, problem-solving, and interpersonal relationships
- Improved productivity
- Supports workforce retention

Leading in a Matrix

Leading in a matrix organization presents unique demands and challenges. Without effective leadership in this highly complex environment, the competition for resources and a lack of role clarity can jeopardize accountability and trust. Success in a matrix requires particular attention to certain key skills, including collaboration, decision making, conflict resolution, communication, influence, and performance management, often applied in new ways. In this program, learners will explore the matrix structure, its function and importance, and its impact on how individuals work and how leaders get results.

Objectives

- Define and explore the shifts required for leading in a matrix organization
- Explore key elements to making a matrix work and the skills that support these elements

Benefits

- Intimidation and skepticism about leading in a matrix structure is addressed and mitigated
- Emphasis on applying existing competencies and skills in new ways demystifies the matrix structure
- Application of discoveries and best practices result in immediate organizational impact

Leading Teams

Droste’s Leading Teams program presents a foundation for success upon which a leader can develop a personal leadership style. Based on the powerful Five Behaviors of a Cohesive Team™ model, this course will position leaders to focus on and foster the behaviors that will make the team more cohesive and improve its performance. Learners will learn the role of a team leader in enabling their team to build trust, master conflict, achieve commitment, embrace accountability, and focus on results. This unique take on the Five Behaviors model presents strategies and practices that support a leader’s efforts to build these behaviors and allows for reflection and planning according to each participant’s needs.

Objectives

- Discuss the characteristics of a successful leader
- Examine five behaviors that underlie team cohesiveness and performance
- Explore leadership strategies that support each of the behaviors

Benefits

- Utilizes a model that is simple but robust
- Skills and practices are applicable to leaders of any type of team

Leading Virtual Teams

Being a leader of a virtual team requires the same skills of any leadership role. Having to use technology to build relationships and accomplish the goals of leadership is the main difference. This, of course, can have huge impact on how, or even if, basic leadership functions are carried out. This course provides tools and techniques specific to leading virtual teams including communication, running meetings, and leading your team to exceeding expectations.

Objectives

- Discuss the challenges of leading virtual team members
- Explore the dynamics of high performing teams in the context of working remotely
- Explore best practices to address the challenges of leading remote teams
- Develop an action plan for implementing the best practices that will optimize team relationships and productivity

Benefits

- Applied learning results in more productive and outcome based virtual meetings where individual and team deliverables are clear and measurable.
- Approach emphasizes specific input and feedback from all team members
- Offers a step by step process that shows a team where they are and where they can be with a goal of outperforming their current state

Listening: The Power of Not Speaking

Listening is not about simply being quiet; listening is a critical skill. Active listening helps make connections between ideas and information. It can help us change our perspective and challenge assumptions. Listening shows appreciation which can enhance our work relationships. Conversely, poor listening negatively impacts productivity and working relationships. This course will guide you through developing an understanding of the importance of listening, explore listening and communication models, and recognize listening as a conflict improvement strategy.

Objectives

- Explore the difference between hearing and attentive and active listening
- Discover the impact non-verbal communication
- Understand how listening impacts work and relationship
- Discover types of questions that encourage the speaker
- Explore listening strategies that help to gain more information and improve conflict

Benefits

- Active listening improves relationships and has a significant impact on culture and morale
- The right questions lead to better decisions and fewer mistakes
- Solve problems and improve conflict situations

Mindset for Leaders

Mindset is a critical element of a leader’s success. Skill building only translates to behavior change when filtered through a healthy mindset. It determines the way we think about, approach, and interpret situations in the workplace and directly influences the quality of our actions, decisions, and relationships. Cultivating a mindset that enhances effectiveness and enables success must be a priority for any genuine leader. This course enables learners to examine the leadership mindset as a concept (e.g., fixed vs. growth), as a manifestation of their personal values and experiences, and as the product of organizational culture. Learners also consider the impact of their mindset as a leader on individuals and the organization, and they conclude by crafting a galvanizing, powerful, and personal mindset statement.

Objectives

- Deeply explore the concept of the leadership mindset and its impact on individuals and organizations
- Connect the dimensions of the leadership mindset to personal values and organizational competencies
- Synthesize learnings and individual insights to craft a personal mindset statement

Myers-Briggs Type Indicator® and Team Building

The Myers-Briggs Type Indicator® (MBTI) is a nonjudgmental instrument that helps individuals and teams to understand themselves and others in a way that is value-oriented versus evaluative. MBTI provides an indication of preferences. The preferences refer to gathering energy or processing thoughts, being detail-oriented versus big-picture-focused in gathering information, being objective or subjective in decision-making, and being structured or go-with-the-flow in orienting one's lifestyle. In this course, learners will complete a 95-question instrument and identify a four-letter MBTI type. Learners will receive a personalized report based on their responses.

Objectives

- Value individual preference types
- Integrate this information into how we work as a team and with others
 - Conduct meetings more effectively
 - Resolve conflicts effectively
 - Break workflow bottlenecks
 - Further our careers
 - Reduce stress levels
 - Make better decisions
 - Increase communication effectiveness
- Implement a strategy to build team appreciation and productivity

Benefits

- A greater understanding of why we do the things we do
- Techniques for working with other MBTI preference types
- Understanding of MBTI and team dynamics

Motivating Others: Coaching to Action

Motivation represents a crucial challenge for many organizations. Well over half of employees are not engaged (Gallup 2014, 2018). Motivation issues are not because of an uninspired team member, rather motivation is driven by the environment created for the team. This course will guide you through identifying motivational issues so you can create a climate where people want to do their best. Through your coaching, those around you will feel empowered, share ownership, and feel like their work is important, regardless of whether they are your peers or your direct reports.

Objectives

- Explore what it means to create a motivating environment
- Discover the impact of personality style to what is motivating
- Discuss how Diversity, Equity and Inclusion impacts motivation
- Explore intrinsic and extrinsic factors of motivation
- Discuss what is motivating to you
- Identify strategies to create a motivating environment to those around you

Benefits

- Motivating others is the work of the team not just of leaders. Through this course you will explore creating a motivating environment for peers, direct reports, and even those who you report to
- Motivation is not a one-size-fits-all. Create motivational strategies at a personal level

Performance Management

In this full-day course, learners will learn what effective performance management looks like in the modern workplace and why it's necessary for setting their employees up for success. Using Droste's SOAP model, learners will take a deep dive into the four steps in executing an impactful performance-management process. Learners will learn how to set and align goals, observe behavior to get results, assess and evaluate performance, and provide feedback and establish next steps. This course also emphasizes the skills and best practices that promote a productive feedback experience and uses a simple model and actionable techniques that learners can use to plan and engage in successful feedback conversations as part of their performance-management process.

Objectives

- Discuss how and why organizations are evolving their approach to managing performance
- Explore an approach to setting goals and objectives that support those of the larger organization
- Write SMART goals
- Discuss and apply the SOAP model of managing performance
- Improve the ability to give performance feedback at all levels

Benefits

- Clearly defined performance-management process for use immediately following the classroom
- Hands-on practice executing the performance-management process through role plays and case studies
- Simple but effective model for giving feedback enables more effective communication and clarity on performance strengths and deficits

Priority Setting: Getting Stuff Done

“I have a million things to do.” You probably don’t have a million things, but does it feel that way sometimes? In this course discover how to approach your to-do list of things that will make the biggest impact. Are there some things on your list that don’t belong, and should either be on someone else’s list or be removed entirely? This course will guide you through identifying those things that do belong on your list and determining what comes first. We will explore decision-making models and the situations that they are most appropriate. We will look at the importance of protecting your time and saying no.

Objectives

- Discover methods to prioritize your daily work
- Explore models for solving problems
- Analyze risks and gaps in projects
- Explore ways to minimize distractions
- Identify the differences between your priorities and other people’s priorities
- Understand that multitasking is a myth

Benefits

- Systems for getting things done are personal. You will see new ideas that you may choose to build into your own system
- Practical, personal, impactful tools for organizing your days, your projects, and solving problems are immediately applicable

Teams and Trust

Droste’s Teams and Trust course combines the framework of Peter Lencioni’s Five Behaviors of a Cohesive Team™ model with the teachings of Charlie Green, the author of three best-selling books about trust. Lencioni emphasizes trust as the first and foundational of the Five Behaviors. Green’s research, as outlined in Trust-Based Selling and The Trusted Advisor, examines trust as a fundamental element of the manager/employee relationship. The course includes a detailed self-assessment used as a diagnostic tool for leaders to understand their natural styles and how they align with the critical behaviors that build trust. It also prepares leaders to build upon trust to facilitate other key team behaviors.

Objectives

- Analyze the Trust Quotient Assessment to identify personal strengths and areas for trust development
- Explore how to create an environment of trust-based leadership by demonstrating credibility, reliability, intimacy, and self-orientation
- Explore aspects of leading cohesive teams to build trust, master conflict, achieve commitment, embrace accountability, and focus on results

Benefits

- Enables leaders’ understanding of their natural leadership style
- Provides tools for building trust with colleagues and direct reports

Time Mastery

This program teaches skills and strategies for efficiently managing time and organizing work. Strategies learned include planning, note-taking, prioritizing, scheduling, responding when the day doesn't go as planned, organizing the desk, and handling paper documents and e-mail messages.

The Time Mastery Profile® completed during the workshop will assess time mastery in twelve dimensions. Improving time-management capabilities often requires a change in habits. Learners will identify the habits that need changing and develop an action plan based on the lessons learned in the session.

Objectives

- Define time management
- Assess your mastery level on 12 time-management dimensions
- Plan using a three-step process
- Identify time wasters and what to do about them
- Prevent and control interruptions
- Organize your paperwork and e-mails

Benefits

- More efficiently manage time
- More efficiently organize workflow
- Increased productivity
- Creation of an action plan for immediately increasing time mastery

Understanding Cultures for Effective Communication

As the world flattens and our multicultural workplaces expand, cultural competence is one of the most valuable business skills we can acquire. Culture underpins how individuals present themselves in the workplace, and knowledge of culture is critical to improving communication and relationships among our colleagues and customers. This program provides a basic understanding of culture and the specific behaviors that culture affects, particularly in a business setting. Learners will be introduced to the characteristics, values, and behaviors of high-context vs. low-context cultures and have the opportunity to practice navigating communication situations with each of these groups. Learners will also learn and apply best practices for effective cross-cultural communication, identify barriers to cross-cultural communication, and reflect on their personal cultural characteristics as well as those of their organization.

Objectives

- Define culture
- Describe how culture affects behavior
- Compare high-context/relationship-based cultures with low-context/rules-based cultures in a business setting
- Explore strategies for effective cross-cultural communication
- Explain how respecting cultural differences can lead to a reconciliation of differences

Benefits

- Techniques for “reading between the lines”
- An understanding of the general cultural assumptions and expectations of others
- Skills for bridging various communication styles
- The ability to communicate respect and empathy to global counterparts
